Introduction to the Readings

First Reading Exodus 20:1-17

Sometimes people wonder if the Ten Commandments have gone away. While some of the content naturally reflects the culture of the time, the fundamental picture of human rights and duties remains valid today. We could even say it is the foundation of the western development of law and human rights.

Second Reading 1 Corinthians 1:22-25

At the centre of Christian faith stands the difficult, enigmatic teaching of the cross. St Paul goes so far even to speak of God's foolishness and weakness. This paradox yields a deep insight into the heart of Christian teaching.

Gospel John 2:13-25

The Temple Action was a powerful prophetic gesture of Jesus. He challenged not just the financial side of temple worship, but the principle of this kind of worship at all. It prepares the reader a later sentence of Jesus in this Gospel: God is spirit and those who worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth.

Kilmacud Stillorgan Local History Society

The next meeting will be held in Glenalbyn, Kilmacud Crokes GAA Club, on Thursday 8 March at 8.00pm.

The speaker is Joseph Brady and the topic is:

The Changing Landscape of South Dublin in the 1950s and 1960s. All are welcome.

Thank You

A big thank you to the parishioners for their very generous support for the cake sale which was held in the Community Centre on February 18th in aid of UCD Volunteers Overseas. The event was a great success and all the support was greatly appreciated.
